1. Nature and purpose of the program

Lady D House provides structured, supportive transitional housing for women working toward stability and independent living. These requirements govern participation in the Lady D House housing program. Continued placement in the home requires program participation, accountability, and compliance with the written requirements.

2. Mandatory compliance and continued residency

Continued residency at Lady D House requires compliance with all program requirements and house rules. Termination from the program also means discharge from the home.

The resident agrees to attend weekly meetings, follow the written house rules, complete agreed household responsibilities, participate in an individual transition plan, and meet the payment obligations documented in the signed payment or housing agreement. Approved accommodations and individual arrangements must be documented with staff.

3. House rules incorporated into this agreement

The resident acknowledges receipt of the house rules, including the 9:00 p.m. curfew; quiet hours from 9:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m.; no overnight guests; no smoking inside; no alcohol, illegal drugs, or medication misuse; no weapons, violence, threats, or aggressive behavior; and expectations for cleanliness, privacy, and respectful shared living.

Program Termination & Discharge

4. Noncompliance and program removal

Program participation and housing placement are connected. Termination from the Lady D House program also means discharge from the home. Noncompliance will result in removal from the program and discharge from the home following the enforcement steps below.

Lesser violations follow a three-strike process: first warning, second written notice, and third violation resulting in removal from the program and discharge from the home. Each violation and required corrective action will be documented. Approved accommodations and individual arrangements will be considered when reviewing compliance.

Weapons, violence, threats, and serious unsafe behavior will result in termination of program participation without the usual warning sequence. Law enforcement will be contacted for threats, violence, suspected criminal activity, or an emergency requiring police assistance.

5. Discharge and move-out requirements

Lady D House will provide a written discharge notice stating the reason for discharge, the effective program end date, and move-out instructions. The resident is required to cooperate with discharge planning, remove personal belongings, return keys, and leave the assigned room clean by the move-out date stated in the notice.
